Life and Times

We, the staff of the 1987 Yearbook have put great thought and consideration into choosing a theme for our yearbook. "Life and Times at North Reading High School" shall be remembered with both happiness and sorrow. The trials and tribulations we have collectively shared as a class have brought us together as a close-knit group and will forever act as a bond between us. Each member of the class of 1987 will always carry with them a special piece of North Reading High School.

Though we begin to travel that long and winding road of life and become separated, the friendships that originated here are destined to last a lifetime, as will the memories of our "Life and Times at North Reading High School."

The Road Not Taken

*Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;*

*Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,*

*And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.*

*I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.*

We can't wait to sell candybars!

Kenny's innocent look.

Sure you're comfortable enough?!

There's no film, right?

Please smile you guys, please!

Am I GQ material, or what?

They must be looking at something funny!

The Happy Birthday Boy.

The infamous sign-hanger.

Kim's full of hot air today!

We're on strike for the day!

I'm making a mess!

I think I need a little more lipstick!

What buddies!

"I can't breathe!"

Are they brownies or what?

Good one Michele!

GOOD-BYES

Mr. Barressi —

We all know him. Mr. Barressi has always been the one to listen to students explanation of why he or she was not in a particular class. He also is the one who stops us in the hall to demand what we are doing. For all your hard work and looking out for us the Senior class wishes to thank you Mr. Barressi. Best wishes for the future.

Mr. Wescott —

Another member of our English department is leaving North Reading High School with the Senior class. Mr. Westcott has been sharing his vast knowledge of the short story with the students for a long time. He taught us through the use of symbolism and helped us to polish our own creativity through stories of our own. Thanks for all your work and dedication.

Mr. Mague —

Mr. Mague has been teaching the students of North Reading High School better reading techniques for many years. Not only does he teach but he practices what he preaches. He always encourages students to read widely. He truly believes in his subject. Thank you for sharing your knowledge of literature.

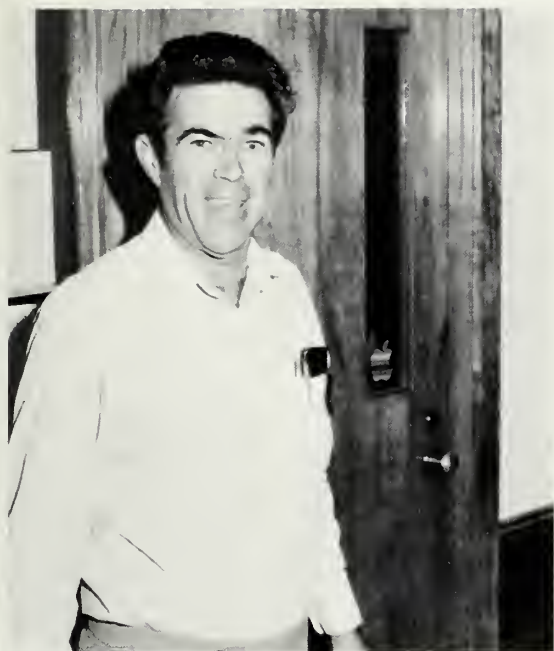

DEDICATION

We, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Eighty Seven would like to extend a heartfelt thanks to a teacher well deserving of one. This year's dedication goes to a man who has bent over backwards to help his students achieve. Year after year he succeeds in creating a cheerful atmosphere in the school lobby with his magical creations. And year after year they get better and brighter. Although no one teacher can be given full credit for a student's success, we can attribute the positive feeling of his students success. Mr. Hughes, you have accomplished an outstanding job and we are proud to have had you as a mentor.

Coming to America and spending a year here was really a once in a lifetime experience for me which I really enjoyed and will never forget. That's why I want to thank the people who made it possible for me to do this., I want to thank my parents for giving me the opportunity of doing this and I especially want to thank the Russo's, my new family, for letting me be a part of their family. I also want to thank all the people who made this year a special one.

Rather than use this valuable space for incomprehensible garble here are some words to live by:
buy AMERICAN
vote REPUBLICAN
FIGHT communism
BUILD more NUKE plants

In Search of . . . The Class Of 1987

It's the year 2007 and though not much has changed on North Reading's Main Street, there are a few minor differences. The sale of the once notorious Horseshoe Lounge has many residents in an uproar, but new owner's Sean Mahoney and Terry Shaw have so far owed up to their promise of retaining its classy image. Renamed "The Rat's Nest" this establishment flourishes with many patrons from The class of 1987. In fact, there is a party happening right now . . .

A long black limo, chauffeured by Eric Arthur pulls up in front of the Rat's Nest. Who could be its passenger? Why, it's rock star Doug Batchelder with manager Sarah Williamson and their entourage of Groupies. Leading the pack are: Tracy Ashdown, Jayne Davis, and Tracy Brackett. Before they can enter, however, the door flies open. Bouncers Guy Silvestro and Donald Stephenson have just thrown out Rummie Jeff Barker and Bag ladies Tracy Tedesco and Heather Owen into the street. Doug sees this hideous sight and invites the downtrodden trio to join his followers. After instructing Eric to shut off the Dana and Donny show-hosted by D.J.'s Dana Allen and Brian Donahoe — and parks next to a crappy Chevy Nova owned by airline pilot John Storey, who has taken his stewardess' Lisa BiBo and Karen Aviiian out for a drink. We finally enter and find a few regulars to greet us. In one corner is Laura Story leaning against the pinball machine and moaning something to bartender Kim Fenell. Kim shouts back and continues to talk with Mike Piscatelli and Robin Gallo, who have their own personalized stools. Cheers and roars come from the far corner of the bar where Jodi Fohlin, Joyce Geradi, Laura Reardon, Pam Rettberg, and Susan Wood, all members of the undefeated Roller Derby team, are celebrating yet another victory with manager/coach Tom Guy. The noise dies down at the request of brain surgeon Ronald Caouette who wishes to watch the news on the large Sony television positioned behind the bar. The headlines are spoken by anchor man David Meli, "Today's top story is the growing violence generated by the protest group E.R.R.H. (Equal Rights For Red Heads) led by Ken Maguire. Prominent members include: Anne Marie Hauck, Steve Libertini, Dan Horan, and Keily Bowman. On a lighter note local police officer Jason Moody was decorated by President Douglas Lipert for his bravery in apprehending Rat killer Scott Hart and Patty Cofer, the first recipient of a bionic leg is in excellent condition." These announcements are cheered loudly by Chuck Carrucci, Sue Mounter, and Julie Capillo. "Some tragic news to report here." Dave informs us. "Sergeant Kory McCauly was shot by his own troops today during basic training exercises at Camp Curtis Guild." A McDonald's commercial starring Kim Enright appears on the screen.

Now we're back with sports caster Dave Marshall "At the request of ball washer Bill Leavitt, Jeffrey Whitehouse will assume coaching responsibilities for the Boston Celtics, to replace ex-coach Brian Hennessey who quit in order to join Roto Router. Also Marc Bryson has won his third PGA tournament by slaughtering Bob Hope. Moving on to auto racing: driver Rob Todisco has fired pit crew captains Ed Breen and Byran Doty. Doty says he plans to attend tonight's tag team Cage match at the Boston Garden featuring Cheryl Caproni and Sonja Robinson vs. Diane Weeden and Karen Rowe. The bout will be referred by Kevin Finnegan. In an unrelated story . . . Olympic Gold Medalist Sonja Priest announced today that she will follow in her mentors footsteps and teach math at North Reading High School. Principal Thomas Long, Guidance Counselor Gretchen Jenks, and home economics teacher Brian Chabot are confident she'll be a big asset. The newscast finally ends after a commercial for John Donnerruma's new movie Physco IV, followed by a Cross Your Heart bra commercial with Jenny Ohotnicky. We decide to leave this rowdy crowd and proceed south on Route 28, to the left is located AJ's Gym, under management of Heath Canuel and Mike Delaney. Through the window all of the regulars can be seen: Dan Brown, Jim DiBlasi, Rob Beauregard and power-lifting champ Lisa "Hank" Cameron. Still heading south we are passed by Herb Beherrell and Kevin Burke en route to yet another landscaping job. Walking down the street is the famous singer/actress Gail Bourque recently wed to polo player Scott Cain. They are among the couples soon to be appearing on Todd Dyments new Newlywed game. Leslie Rich, Robert Rocco, and Christine Celata will also be on the show along with entrepreneur Cale Klimachuck and his wife Michelle (formally Michael Laquidara). To the right is a somewhat disturbing sight: Martin Dale stockboys Craig Acari and Bill Phelan are peeping through a window of Amanda Ogren's dance studio. Upon closer look we can understand why. It seems that Solid Gold Dancers: Jen Perullo, Maribeth Alves, Karen Emma, Vickie Wood, and Sue Timoney are being instructed by Genevieve Walsh, our attention is diverted because of Darlene Peck's radio station WPEK has just reported that Judge Diane Germino has sentenced Stephen Gerakines to 10 years imprisonment at Sing Sing for embezzling 12 million dollars from IBM. The money hasn't been returned as yet though Gerakines has hinted that one of his Penthouse pet of the month girlfriends might have an idea of it's whereabouts. Naturally police Commissioner James Sully has rounded up Amy Gonsalves, Cathy Hall and Nancy Hyslip for questions. Even pet of the year Kim Bragen has been questioned. Tired of listening to the radio cassette of Wayne Moda's chart topping album is played to the enjoyment of

all. On our way to "Tina's Weiners" a 24-hour hot dog stand owned by Christine Avvanites, we pass a bill board advertising the grand opening of Sheila Mahoney's fashion store in Everett (where else). Helping Sheila will be designer Angela Petrillo, Sales rep. Dana Pucillo and Consultant Dianne Marra. Finally we reach "Tina's," sandwiched between Dave Moore's and Matt Joubert's junkyard and Steve Shapleigh's new Transcript office, it appears as though sports writer Marc Liberman has, once again, locked himself out. Oh well it's time for hot dogs. Inside Tina's posh restaurant, we're greeted by Andrea Mastro, handing out leaflets for her new Together Dating Service. Seated in the lounge are daytime soap stars Laurie Puglisi and Michelle Bevilacqua repeating local gossip. They are interrupted occasionally by Sue Pickett, who works as a waitress, and scientist Dan Eustace alone in the bathroom making obscene noises. Sue Butler, receptionist for the North Reading Police Department, enters and soon joins Michele and Laurie in their unsubstantiated rumors. Deciding its the only way to find out what happened to the remainder of the class of '87, we cautiously approach the group. When asked what became of "The Chief" Jeff Florence, a one time beloved figure in society, Sue claims that he is now living at Danvers State Mental Hospital and that he's a Hare Krisna in L.A. I guess we'll never know for sure. It's possible he was on the school bus that Jim Bently, Kerry Donovan, Audrey Serracchia and Anna Wourinen took in explore new lands in. Everyone knew that Scott Cunningham ran off to join the circus, but which one? No one can be certain. Justin Cheverie and Laurianne Chiango were last seen wandering aimlessly around the streets of New York. Door to door bowtie salesman Glenn Sawyer suddenly appears to inform us that Steve Higiens has suffered a severe nervous breakdown after realizing that he will never be Chuck Norris. Glenn also tells us that Sharon Blinn married a gas station attendant and that since Dan Murray can no longer be a member of the U.S.A. track team he plans to sing a duet with Anna Newbern. Laurie changes the conversation by mentioning that George Kenty, Gert Verpeet, and Mark Vincent all intend to enter the Miss America Pageant under the new rules. This reminder evokes fond laughter from the surrounding patrons. The phone rings; its one of Janet Kelly's metal head children placing an order for 30 hot dogs without rolls. Realizing there is still one class member left I ask "What ever happened yo Jennifer Durning?" "oh," sighs Michele "She moved to Phoenix"

I'm your host Dave Mauceri and this concludes another episode of "In Search of . . ." I hope you have found it entertaining and informative.
